Young China Embarks On An Outing

MEMBERS OF THE CHINESE WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION
Setting Forth With Their Friends for an Excursion on the Hudson River

From Chinese Need Grew Club To Aid Women In New York

(From The Christian Science Monitor.)

New York.—One day in 1932 cable dispatches from China brought serious news, and emphasized the need for loyal Chinese everywhere to raise immediate relief funds.

Two Chinese women, reading their newspapers in the Chinese Quarter in New York, looked at each other, and then said quietly "This is a direct call upon us."

To understand what they did, and what that activity of 1932 has grown into, it is well to look for a moment at the two women.

One is Mrs. Jessie Young. If you were to call upon her in the office of one of the four big businesses she manages—and she is an insurance broker, besides—you would find her wearing simple, Occidental clothes. Chances are she would be wearing her hat too, for she is constantly on the go.

Mrs. Young was born at 19 Mott Street, when what is now a much larger community was just a small cluster of dim, mysterious buildings overhanging a network of narrow, twisting streets. She grew up in the quarter, married, had four sons. Widowed four years ago, it was necessary for her to take the responsibility for her family. She sent the two eldest boys to Canton, for three years in the middle school of Ling Nam University so they could know something about China at first-hand observation. The two little boys, now just entering their teens, stayed with her.

The other of the two women is Miss Theodora Chan. For ten years she has been secretary of the Chinese Y.M.C.A. She took a master's degree at the University of California in 1920, and another at Teachers College in 1922. Four years ago she married William M. C. Wang, Oberlin graduate and secretary of the Far East Merchants Association. It is Mr. Wang who speaks of her as Miss Chan. Ask him if it isn't a little unusual for a Chinese wife to continue to use her maiden name and he will laugh, saying, "Well, for so long everybody knew her as Miss Chan; her name had significance as she went on with her work; it would be very confusing for everybody to be told that now they must cease to call her Miss Chan, and call her Mrs. Wang!"

Miss Chan wears Chinese dress. Ask Mr. Wang about that. He laughs again. "It is nice that she does. We like to see the Chinese woman continue to wear her native dress."

Mrs. Young and Miss Chan decided to begin at once to raise money for a relief fund, and secured $7895 in a single day. The money had to be raised wherever it could. There was no organization of the women through which to work. And that was what gave Mrs. Young and Miss Chan the idea for what is now the Chinese Woman's Association. It was about 400 members, and every social, cultural and recreational activity that could be adapted to life in the quarter.

Eventually the association will have a building of its own, like the "Y" building in San Francisco. The plan is for a dormitory large enough to accommodate 25 people, an auditorium to seat 500, a modern gymnasium and a floor for offices, playrooms, the reading room, club rooms, and so on. It is characteristic of the women not to say they "expect" to have it, but to say that, with faith, love, hope and hard work they are going to have it.

The association has some Western members. Mrs. Buck is one of them. And Gertrude Nicolson and Anna Lawrence. It would like to have more, for one of the association's purposes is a further acquaintance and understanding between Far Easterners and Westerners.

The conditions of membership are simple, but they are eloquent. They involve a promise not to buy, sell or use any goods produced by a violator of the letter as well as the spirit of the Nine-Power Treaty and the Kellogg-Bradford pact. An earnest effort to promote, stimulate, and maintain better understanding of the Chinese and their customs, history and problems; a staunch determination to preach the necessity of arbitration in all disputes and, if need be, the doctrine of complete personal boycott and financial sanctions against disturbers of world peace.

PERSISTENT THIEF

"It is obvious that you are a persistent thief and a persistent breaker of the Deportation Ordinance," declared the Police Judge, Mr. Justice R. E. Lindell, at the Criminal Sessions yesterday morning, when he passed sentence of five years' hard labour on Tsang Yau, aged 28, who pleaded guilty to a charge of breach of Deportation Order.

Accused, according to Mr. M. J. Abbott, Assistant Crown Solicitor, was banished in 1929, and since then had returned to the Colony no less than six times. Prior to that he had four convictions for larceny. At present he was serving a sentence of six months for theft.

At present undergoing six months and one year's hard labour respectively on charges of larceny, Leung Yu, alias Yip Lum, 27, and Ho Yat-san, 20, were sentenced to three years each, for offending against the Deportation Ordinance. The former had four previous convictions, the first one dating back to 1933, including three for breach of the Deportation Ordinance.

His Worship directed that the sentences commence at the expiration of the terms accused are at present undergoing.

POLICE REPORTS

CENTRAL COURT CASES

Embezzlement Alleged

Rachi Ram appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday when he was charged with alleged embezzlement of $230 from the Calif. Asia Co., Ltd. The date of hearing was fixed for August 1.

FORGOT TO BUY HIS TICKET

Leung Kai-cheung, aged 18, appeared before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy to answer a summons for travelling on the Yau-mat ferry Man Kung on the 17th inst. without a ticket. The defendant stated that he went to Canton and on returning to the Colony forgot to purchase a monthly ticket. His Worship imposed a fine of $25.

TWO-YEAR OLD TICKET

Tang Sik-hing appeared before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy yesterday to answer a summons for travelling on the tram without a valid ticket. It was stated that the defendant used a ticket that was two years old. His Worship imposed a fine of $5.

BANISHEE CAUGHT

Chan Choy, a banishee was charged with returning to the Colony when he appeared before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy yesterday. The defendant was banished on the 7th of last month and was arrested upon information. A sentence of six months was imposed by his Worship.

identically received while working in a boiler-house at the Railway Depot.

ADMISSION OF ROBBERY

Sentence of one year's hard labour each was imposed by the Acting Chief Justice, His Honour Mr. Justice C. G. Alabaster, at the Criminal Sessions yesterday morning, when Cheung Keung, aged 30, unemployed, and Lee Pat, aged 28, miner, pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery by two or more.

Accused were alleged to have robbed four women of $138, a clock and two suits of clothing, at an unnumbered hut in Wong Chuk Hang village, Aberdeen, on the night of May 8.

Lee Pat was additionally charged with unlawful possession of a revolver and five rounds of ammunition at Cheung Kwai Chung village, Tsun Wan, on June 14. He also admitted this offence and was sentenced to 15 months' hard labour, the sentence to run concurrently with the one imposed in respect of the robbery charge.

Two other men were also charged in connection with the robbery. They were Chan Ping and Cheung On. The former is sick and could not stand his trial, while the latter pleaded not guilty. The case against them will be heard tomorrow morning.

All accused were arrested following enquiries made by the police in connection with a series of armed robberies.

ANOTHER REMAND

At the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday morning, before Mr. E. Himsforth, Koo Wah-tak and Leung Wong appeared on remand on a charge of murdering the late Mr. David Chan See, managing director of the Sincere Co. Ltd., and were remanded until Thursday at 2.30 p.m.

The quickest-acting STOMACH REMEDY used by Doctors

Amazing evidence of the remarkable speed with which indigestion and stomach pains can be stopped has been revealed by medical experiments and X-ray photographs of actual cases. These prove the ingredients of "Bisurated" Magnesia to be the quickest-acting and most effective known to medical science. Within 5 minutes a teaspoonful of "Bisurated" Magnesia in a little water produces complete relief in cases where numerous other remedies had failed entirely.

Its Action Explained—
Simply take a teaspoonful of the powder in a little water. The moment this soothing draught reaches the tortured stomach it begins to soothe the acid, fermenting undigested food. The contents of the stomach become so bland and soothing as milk to the sensitive stomach lining. The pain subsides, tension and pressure disappear. By following up the treatment after each meal, your harassed stomach will soon lose its tenderness and grow strong again. You can eat whatever you like and enjoy every meal, without fear of wind and pain.

A NOTED ENGLISH DOCTOR SAYS:

"I find that 'Bisurated' Magnesia taken after my meals is the only thing that keeps me free from pain and discomfort, and I take it regularly. I often prescribe it for my patients, and have had very good results."

H.C. — M.A., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.

ANOTHER DOCTOR SAYS:
"Bisurated" Magnesia gives excellent results and is the ideal remedy for stomach pains and acidity. It is particularly recommended for Dyspepsia, Gastritis, Stomach Pains, Flatulence, and even Stomach Ulcers."

H.L. — Faculty of Medicine, Paris.

Kalzana is a remarkable food containing no drugs whatsoever.

In hot countries one's diet and the extent to which one perspires tend to decrease the mineral contents of the body. Many complaints such as irritability, high blood pressure, dizziness, acidity, which are so often ascribed to "the climate" are due largely to this loss of minerals.

When you do not feel as well as you should, start taking Kalzana tablets. They will soon put you right.

BLUE FUNNEL SHIP SINKS JUNK

One Fisherman Lost

Details of the plight of some fishermen, one of whom disappeared, when the Blue Funnel liner Aeneas came into collision with a junk in mid-ocean on May 15 at 1.30 a.m. while on the way from Colombo to Penang, were revealed at an official inquiry made at the Marine Court, Harbour Master's Office, recently.

Lieut. Comdr. Owen, Deputy Harbour Master, Penang, conducted the inquiry, while Mr. T. E. Conaghan appeared for Mr. B. L. Huggins, Second Officer of the Aeneas, who was on the bridge at the time of the collision. Mr. F. J. D. Regester appeared for the owner and master of the ship.

"We were asleep at that time," said one of the surviving members of the crew. The noise of the impact woke me. Just as the junk was sinking the crew jumped overboard and swam to their sampan. Having got there they found one of the crew missing. They made a search for him, but in vain.

FROM THE BRIDGE

Mr. A. L. Huggins in his evidence stated that the look-out man reported to him at 1.38 a.m. that there was a light ahead of the ship. As the night was very dark it was difficult to distinguish anything except a small white light, a few degrees on the starboard bow. He ordered the quartermaster to port the helm so as to pass to windward of the light as the Aeneas was going at about six knots. Afterwards he saw a light moving towards the port side. He then ordered "stop" to the starboard engine. The light then disappeared. He went full speed astern. Being sent to see what had occurred he saw, with the aid of a torch, a junk across the steamer's bow. He also saw a sampan with some men in it. There were 7 of them. The Aeneas resumed her journey to Penang 20 minutes later.

After various other evidence had been recorded the inquiry was closed.

HE TOO DIED AT HIS POST

Annual Memorial Service For Earl Haig

The annual service in memory of Field-Marshal Earl Haig was held beside his grave in Dryburgh Abbey, writes the "Glasgow Herald." It was arranged by the Borders Area Council of the British Legion, and was attended by a large number of ex-Service men as well as the general public.

Among those present were Lady Haig, Colonel Robertson, and Lieutenant-Colonel Cunningham, D.S.O. The service was conducted by the Rev. H. Shannon Briscoe, St. Mark's Church, Galashiels, and the sermon was preached by the Rev. D. G. Hamilton, Kelso Old Parish Church.

In the course of his address Mr. Hamilton said the purpose of their service was one of remembrance and gratitude. As such it bore a close relation to that which would come again some five months hence on Armistice Day.

SPECIALLY REMEMBERED

He whom they specially remembered, and whose resting-place was more than ever holy ground, was spared to survive the end of the war, but the rest of his life was spent mainly in the interests of those who had served with him and under him.

"It is no exaggeration to say that he too died at his post, and accordingly it is not unfitting that we should associate him with those who made the great sacrifice," added Mr. Hamilton.

It was remarkable that after all these years the desire to commemorate seemed to be as strong as ever. In its long history our country had passed through many wars and had known many great soldiers, but there had been no desire to commemorate them.

Certainly it was the greatest war that had ever been, but while their pride in fathers and brothers who gallantly fought and died remained undimmed, yet they could not but see that the great cause for which they gave their all had not been fully won. War had again raised its grim head, and they saw the ominous spectacle of the nations arming themselves rapidly and vigorously.

FORTIFICATION OF PENANG

No Abandonment Of Scheme

"Penang is to be the fortress for North Malaya and proposals for its defence are to be proceeded with by the military authorities. Although the site of 120 acres in the north-east district of the island has been abandoned another one is to be chosen."

"The giving up of the site and the knowledge that at least a section of the people in Penang are opposed to the idea of the island being converted into a fortress led to the impression in some quarters that the entire fortification plan had been dropped. It is believed that landowners have been unwilling that their property should be requisitioned for military purposes. There is no truth whatever in the rumours that the intention to fortify Penang has been abandoned."

NEW SITE TO BE CHOSEN

That is the gist of a statement issued to the Press by the Military Headquarters at Fort Canning recently after a clarification of the position had been sought by the Times of Malaya.

The rumours appear to have had their origin in the cancellation of the Gazette notice under which certain land was to pass into military occupation, added the statement.

The reason for this was that it has been decided, for certain reasons, not to take up this site. The proposal to acquire a site of 120 acres at Penang was announced in January.

It is rumoured that the fortification plans entail the establishment of a full infantry battalion at Penang as well as Royal Artillery and other units. A Royal Air Force station also is likely to be established there. Penang possesses a fine landing-ground, with facilities for night landings, and has sheltered water for flying-boats, as well as guarding the north-west approaches to Singapore.

VULNERABILITY OF PENANG

The new Army garrison and Air Force station would be a valuable strategic addition to Britain's defence expansion plans in the Far East. The vulnerability of the Penang Harbour has long been a source of anxiety to the military authorities and the damage wrought by the German raider Emden in the Great War provided a warning of the danger of unpreparedness.

The topographical features of Penang are well adapted to fortification.

SAVED EUROPE FROM WAR

Prime Minister's Message

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, the Prime Minister, in a message to Conservatives in "Home and Empire," emphasises that the policy of the National Government in its persistent support of Non-Intervention has prevented the deplorable struggle in Spain from spreading to other countries and so saved Europe from the danger of war.

The partnership of the three parties—of which the Conservative was the strongest element—forming the National Government has, the message declares, been justified by its achievements.

The Prime Minister stresses the need for unity and singleness of purpose among Conservatives. He remarks that the very catholicity of the party must lead on occasions to legitimate differences of opinion within its ranks on questions of method.

Such differences were all to the good as long as they were always prepared to remember that the Conservative party was a fighting force on the side of Constitutionalism and against the subversive elements in their midst.

"PACIFISM AND PROVOCATION"

"In contrast to the steady and consistent policy of the National Government in the cause of peace and security," Mr. Chamberlain continued, "there are the divided and wavering opinions of the Socialist. Opposition—a dangerous confusion of pacifism and provocation, impractical idealism and half-hearted and contradictory proposals for national defence.

"In face of such a possible alternative, national safety and international peace alike demand the maintenance of a strong National Government. If nothing else were at stake, I feel that this would be a decisive consideration with the Conservative party.

"In industry the immediate danger to be guarded against is extreme elements seeking to foment discontent, not with a genuine desire to secure the betterment of working conditions, but with the sole object of bringing the industrial machine to a standstill and so furthering their revolutionary designs," he writes.

In national politics there was the same need to be on guard against the extremists.

WEAK GOVERNMENT DANGER

"A weak Government, committed to a revolutionary programme of Socialism, always at the mercy of its own extremists and attempting to handle foreign affairs on no other principle than that of a cloudy internationalism, might well open the way to Communism and Fascism.

"Unfortunately, all the indications point to the probability that the return of the present Labour party to power would result in the formation of just such a Government.

"The continuance of the National Government is the best protection against extremes as well as best for the maintenance of prosperity and security."

"HUMAN RADIO SETS"

Men's Strange Power

An extraordinary story comes from Moravia-Ostrava, an industrial town in Czechoslovakia.

Two artisans, Frana Sykora, aged 21, and Rudolf Ujasky, aged 35, have created a sensation because they are able to receive and transmit radio programmes from places as far apart as London and Breslau through the medium of their own bodies without the aid of any radio set.

Suggestions that the whole affair might be one of those scientific hoaxes foisted on the world from time to time seem to have been dispelled somewhat by the impressive and objective evidence of two Prague professors, who recently visited the "human radio sets" armed with their own loud-speaker to test the experiment.

Dr. Ernest, chairman of the Czech Radio Listeners' Society, and Dr. Schafraek, physicist at the Karl University, both came away from the experiment satisfied but without any explanation for the mystery.

CELLAR EXPERIMENTS

Before it took place they examined the two men thoroughly and the surroundings and found nothing suspicious. Although both professors were unanimous in their wonder at the manner in which the two Moravians conjured radio music out of the air, they felt that a final verdict would not be possible until the experiment had been tried out in Prague.

At present the men perform their experiment in a cellar in their own home—12 ft. long and 6 ft. wide. After twenty minutes of deep breathing with a severe contraction of the body muscles, there is first a trial with head-receivers to see if the bodies are charged with enough electricity.

The men hold hands and also hold the loud-speakers. After a few minutes the spectators are astonished to hear the music of a radio programme coming from the loud-speaker. When the men breathed more deeply the reception was stronger.

According to Franz Kittler, a local radio dealer, who discovered the men, the two men have been able to receive and transmit no fewer than ten stations, including Budapest, Paris, and London.

CITY FREEDOM FOR TWO PREMIERS

Mr. J. A. Lyons, Prime Minister of Australia, and Mr. J. Savage, Prime Minister of New Zealand, were admitted to the Freedom of the City of London at the Court of Common Council at the Guildhall.

Mr. Savage, in his reply, said that the peoples of the Commonwealth were bound together by unbreakable ties of blood and sentiment, as well as by commercial ties which he hoped would be strengthened in the future.

He had been particularly interested in housing efforts in the whole of London. "This, and what is being done in other directions for the greater happiness, health and education of the poorer classes are the things that add to a City's greatness," he added.

Mr. Lyons said, "Little they know of the Empire who fail to know the story of London."

The City of London, he added, with its high ideals, its sound business methods, and its steadfast commercial ideals had meant much in the development of the Empire. Australians were proud to follow in the footsteps of this great London.

VICAR DIES IN HIS SLEEP

A young couple who were to have been married at St. Barnabas' Church, Wellington, had to wait a quarter of an hour before a minister arrived to perform the ceremony.

It was not until the wedding was over that the couple learned that the Vicar (the Rev. J. Mason) had died in his sleep during the night.

After collapsing in the pulpit, the Rev. Herman Evans, Pastor of Manselton Baptist Church, Swansea, died.

SHY MEN NEED ENCOURAGING IN LOVE

DOCTOR EXPLAINS ART OF COURTSHIP

"Shy men in matters of love need encouragement, and women should not be thought unkindly for giving them this encouragement—within limits, of course."

This, in effect, was the advice given by Dr. T. Drummond Shields, when discussing the art of courtship at the summer school of the British Social Hygiene Council at Friends House, London.

"There is no doubt," he said, "that there have been cases where a shy man, who was very much attracted to a girl, would have been greatly helped by a little more frankness and honesty on the part of the girl."

"But very often, owing to her conventional ideas, a woman, if she is attracted to a man, makes a point of being particularly disagreeable to him for fear that he should think she is running after him."

NEED OF CHIVALRY

Chivalry, said Dr. Drummond Shields, had suffered with the new freedom, between the sexes and he urged that chivalry should be encouraged in the training of boys, even though there were some feminists to-day who might regard it as patronage on the part of the men.

"We definitely believe in early marriage," said the doctor later, "yet there are all sorts of obstacles put in the way of young couples, in the police force, the Army, Navy and Air Force, in Church organisations and missionary bodies and among certain firms who make young men employees going abroad sign contracts that they will not marry for five or ten years."

Dr. E. F. Griffith stressed the need for preparation for marriage, together with the need for pre-marital medical examination.

"Many young people I come across," he said, "think of marriage simply as a goal and that when they are married they will live happily ever after."

CAR INSTEAD OF BABY

The average girl to-day might usefully learn something about how to cook a dinner instead of how to operate a type-writer, but the average girl knew nothing about cooking. She should also learn something about children and their upbringing.

Dr. Griffith emphasised the stabilising influence of children in the home. He pointed out the importance of parents having children while they were young. There were, however, many urges against parenthood, among them the expense of educating them. When it came to a choice between a baby and a baby car, people to-day plumped for the car, and houses were being built with a garage, but no nursery.

BOURNVILLE'S NEW £25,000 LIDO

Built as a memorial to the Jubilee of King George V. and Queen Mary and of the coronation of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth, Bournville's new £25,000 lido was handed over to the work-people of Cadbury Brothers by Mr. Edward Cadbury, chairman of the company, recently.

The lido is surrounded by a garden club, bowling greens, tennis courts, and football and cricket pitches.

The main swimming pools 100ft. long and 50ft. wide, and is faced with a paved deck, sun-bathing, sea-shingle beaches and grass slopes. For the children a pool 50ft. long by 17ft. 6in. wide, with a maximum depth of 12in. is provided.

Opening the pools, Mr. Cadbury said: "We hope the lido may be

THE OUTCASTS OF POKER FLAT

With Preston Foster and Jean Muir in the leading roles, a tense, realistic screen drama of the turbulent days of Forty-Nine in the California mining camps, "The Outcasts of Poker Flat" proves thrilling entertainment with its opening to-day at the Alhambra Theatre.

The two screen favourites are brilliantly cast in the respective roles of a gambler of the old school and a teacher who falls in love with him. Their unconventional romance is complicated by the jealousy of Foster's feminine associate, by the rivalry of a reformer clergyman, and the devotion of the camp to a precocious little orphan girl whose welfare is an important factor in the destiny of the hero.

THIRTEENTH CHAIR

Apart from its fascinating mystery the new screen drama at the King's Theatre to-day, titled "The Thirteenth Chair," is one of the best examples of the new Hollywood technique yet to reach the screen. The picture was filmed largely in shadows, which adds to its element of mystery and its photographic splendour.

The story is an adaptation of the remembered stage success by Bayard Veiller and with the greater resources of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, it becomes even more interesting.

Thirteen people are seated in a room where a seance is in progress, arranged for one of them who hopes to find the murderer of his close friend. In the darkness, he himself is killed by a knife wound. No one enters or leaves the room and yet no knife is there.

RIFFRAFF

Jean Harlow has never displayed her versatility as an actress to better advantage than in "Riffraff," which is at the Majestic Theatre.

She follows her smashing hit in "China Seas" with another sparkling role, again against the background of the sea, but in a vital, romantic story, which gives her the finest opportunity of her career.

Teamed with her for the first time is one of Hollywood's finest actors, Spencer Tracy, and the two miss no opening to get the most out of the powerful and sweeping story, which mixes the most hilarious comedy with the most touching pathos.

UNDER COVER OF NIGHT

Grim mystery among a group of scientists at a university, and solution of a baffling crime by the tiny clue of a pet dog's rubber ball are the exciting elements in "Under Cover of Night" showing at the Oriental Theatre to-morrow and Thursday, detective story in which the audience plays detective alongside the detective on the screen.

Edmund Lowe creates the newest detective character of the screen as Christopher Cross, super-sleuth. The story is by Bertram Millhauser, directed by George Selig.

the means of bringing health and happy recreation to those employed at Bournville and their families."

"At certain periods of the day the lido will be open to the general public."

Florence Rice and Theodore von Eltz in "Under Cover of Night" a mystery comedy romance showing at the Oriental Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday with Edmund Lowe, Florence Rice, Dorothy Peterson and Henry Kolker.

STAR DUST

William Powell and Myrna Loy will have brothers and sisters in their next co-starring effort, "Double Wedding." Florence Rice, John Beal and Richard Thorpe are members of the cast.

Dick Powell is leading man opposite Ginger Rogers in "Hollywood Hotel," the Warner's opus. The film bears the title of a regular American radio hour.

Robert Young who will be seen shortly at the Alhambra in "I Met Him in Paris" with Claudette Colbert and Melvyn Douglas, has been given the lead in "Witness to a Murder" after which Young will appear with Joan Crawford in "The Girl From Trieste." Franchot Tone, husband of Joan, will also be in the film.

The Dionne Quintuplets latest film has been titled "Mother Knows Best." Jean Hersholt is again in the cast.

Luise Rainer, Academy award winner, will start work very soon with Spencer (Fury) Tracy as her leading man in "Big City."

M.G.M. have bought the film rights of John Galsworthy's "Forsythe Saga."

Constance Collier and Andrea Leeds have been added to the cast of "Stage Door."

MYSTERIES OF SPACE

Discovery Of Two More Chemicals

Astronomers at Mount Wilson Observatory, in California, have been making discoveries about the "cosmic cloud"—the tenuous sea of diffuse matter which, it is now believed, fills the whole of space.

It is already known that the "cosmic cloud" contains atoms of the chemical element calcium, most familiar in the form of chalk, and also of sodium and common salt.

Now Mount Wilson has added two more chemical elements to the list—potassium, used by farmers in the form of potash, and titanium, which, though often spoken of as one of the "rare" chemical elements, is listed as ninth in order of abundance on the earth.

Sir Arthur Eddington believes that many more chemical elements are to be found in the cosmic cloud than have been identified.

There are two main theories of the origin of the cloud. One is that it represents the leavings of creation—that the cosmic cloud was once not merely universal, but all there was of matter. Then, it is suggested, out of the eddies of primordial chaos, the stars were born. Part of the cloud "condensed" into solid matter.

"FULL" OF THE STARS

On the other hand, it also seems probable that the stars may be losing part of their atmosphere to the cosmic cloud. Sir Arthur, who has investigated the cloud in its theoretical aspects, said that he favoured the former theory. He pointed out that, owing to the heavy gravitational pull of the stars, it is not easy for them to lose any great part of their material to surrounding space. The

MEN WITH MEDALS

Arrival Scenes In London

The arrival of ex-Service men in large contingents from the country made a succession of impressive scenes at the terminal railway stations in London. Throughout the morning special trains brought ex-Service men from distant parts of the country, and in many cases the men formed battalions and marched in column of fours to Hyde Park. Standards of the British Legion and other organizations were carried at the heads of the columns, and some contingents were led by bands.

Early in the morning ex-Service men were to be seen everywhere in the neighbourhood of the railway ground. They were easily recognisable, not only by the medals they wore but also by the way they clustered in groups. Beyond Hyde Park, on the far side of Kensington Gardens by the Palace, they sat in the warm sunshine, and from an exchange of greetings passed to an exchange of memories, one group with another. In the interval between arriving in London and parading for the review many of the men who had come up from the country found their way to the Cenotaph, and along Whitehall there was a constant throng of men with medals. Less distant from Hyde Park Corner and Marble Arch, groups of men from different parts of the country gathered together in tea shops and public-houses to talk of the days of the War.

It was at the railway stations that this vast civilian army seemed biggest in numbers. Paddington in the morning and for an hour or so after midday seemed one great meeting place of ex-Service men. Several columns had formed up beside the platforms as special trains arrived and had marched away when there were still trains due to arrive from Swansea, and Carmarthen, Hereford, Worcester, Birmingham, Wolverhampton, and Bristol. Occasionally one saw a disabled ex-Service man being wheeled across the station in a chair. It was easy to see, too, that the men were from many different walks of life, for there were no uniforms among these veterans. Here and there could be seen a clergyman, wearing his medals and a badge which indicated the contingent in which he would parade in the park.

SPANISH NEWS

ITALIAN WAR INVALIDS

Rome, July 18.
The association of Italian War Invalids had made a declaration to the effect that it has been decided that the Italian volunteers wounded in Spain will be admitted to membership of the Association.
—Transocean News Service.

SEIZURE CONFIRMED

London, July 18.
The British Admiralty confirms that on Saturday a British merchant steamer was confiscated by nationalist Spanish warships outside Santander but inside the three mile limit because the vessel was carrying contraband. She has been brought to Ferrel.
The captain declared that he had only intended to use the ship to carry refugees from Santander. In London it is believed that the sudden despatch of the battleship "Royal Oak" and one destroyer to Spanish waters is connected with this incident.
—Transocean News Service.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Salamanca, July 18.
In reports on the occurrences on the anniversary of the nationalist uprising, the Spanish press publishes noteworthy particulars about the successes of the Nationalist troops in the twelve months.
The Nationalist air force have destroyed 328 enemy planes in addition to which twelve planes were captured.
The papers also publish lengthy reports about the achievements of high officers connected with the Nationalist forces.
—Transocean News Service.

INSURGENTS RESUME OFFENSIVE

Hendaye, July 18.
The Insurgent forces, under General Francisco Franco, have resumed the offensive to the west of Madrid, following the exhaustion of the Loyalist assaults of the past several days, and with a vengeance. To-day 36 bombing planes working in relays, and escorted by 112 fighters, are said to have continuously attacked the Government positions at Villa Nueva del Pardillo, and at Brunete, without meeting any resistance from Government fliers.

The Insurgents report that their infantry subsequently reached its local objectives without encountering opposition, as the Government lines were untenable owing to the aerial assault which preceded their advance.

The San Sebastian press reports the despatch of numerous troop trains from Burgos, Victoria and San Sebastian to the Santander and Asturian fronts.

PLANES SHOT DOWN

General Queipo de Llano, in a broadcast, claimed that 71 Government planes were shot down and 12 captured after they had made forced landings on the Madrid front between July 1 and July 16. Moreover, 21 Government tanks were destroyed by artillery and nine others were captured during the Madrid fighting of this period, he added.
—Reuter.

SERIOUS ALLEGATIONS

Valencia, July 18.
"The Germans and Italians are not here to defeat the Republic, it is to take our mines and naval bases in order to check other powers, like Britain and France," declared Spain's President, Senor Manuel Azana, addressing a crowd of meeting here to-day on the occasion of the anniversary of the beginning of the civil war.
Senor Azana denounced the proposal to grant the Insurgent belligerent rights as an impertinent piece of intervention. He said the only non-intervention realised was that of the League of Nations.

Concluding, he declared the Government's military strength was the better. "I know there are half a million Spanish bayonets which won't let themselves be vanquished," he asserted.
—Reuter.

BIG AIR BATTLE

Madrid, July 19.
It is reported that the biggest air battle of the world's history was fought near the old Spanish capital to-day. At least 160 planes were in action for over an hour.
"The Government asserts 18 Insurgents were shot down and four Republican craft failed to return," Reuter.

FOR DEFENCE OF HONG KONG

NEW MINE-LAYING SUBMARINES

Two mine-laying submarines, H.M.S. Grampus and Rorqual, are to leave England shortly for the China Station.

On their arrival at Hong Kong, the Fourth Submarine Flotilla in the Far East will consist of 17 of the most modern types of vessels, all of 1,475 tons, each armed with eight torpedo tubes and engined to 4,400 s.h.p.

Commenting on this satisfactory state of affairs, a recent issue of Truth declares that there can be no question about the wisdom of this big concentration of Britain's relatively small submarine strength. Hong Kong, very vulnerable to surface attack by sea-lords itself most effectively to submarine and mine defence, and the same applies, thinks Truth, to Singapore, although "this fortress would be a harder nut to crack than Hong Kong."

The moral effect of the known presence of a large submarine force, it is suggested, is a great defensive asset, as was illustrated frequently during the Great War. Admiral Jellicoe, in his book "The Grand Fleet," gives various instances in which he, and other Admirals, refused to "go on" owing to the menace of enemy submarines which were subsequently proved not to have been there at all.

FIRE DESTROYS BALLOON

Rochester, Minn., July 18.
Fire to-day destroyed the new balloon equipment belonging to Professor Jean Picard, twin brother of the famous stratosphere balloonist, who was attempting a record-breaking ascent here.

It is believed the fire started in the air, but reports state that Professor Picard landed safely at Lansing, Iowa, about 75 miles from here. This information was conveyed here to Madame Picard.

The Professor ascended from Rochester earlier on what was announced as a trial ascent. His equipment on this occasion consisted of a gondola supported by eight relatively small, rubber balloons.

Freedom Ceremony At Aberdeen

Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, and Mr. J. A. Lyons, Prime Minister of Australia, received the Freedom of Aberdeen recently, writes a correspondent in the "Times." About 1,800 persons attended the ceremony, including 300 senior school children and a number of visitors from Canada and Australia.

Lord Provost E. W. Watt presided, and, in presenting the two Prime Ministers, said it was fitting in this year of the Coronation that Aberdeen should seek to honour two such distinguished representatives of the Dominions. Mr. Mackenzie King, he added, had close associations with Scotland, for his paternal grandfather, John King, was born near Fraserburgh and his maternal grandfather, William Lyon Mackenzie, was born in Dundee.

Returning thanks for the Freedom, Mr. Mackenzie King said that both his grand parents took part in the Canadian rebellion a century ago. His mother's father was a leader of the struggle for political freedom for the mass of the people, and his father's father went to Canada from Aberdeen with a detachment of the Royal Horse Artillery during the rebellion. John King, he said, trained a cannon at a windmill in which Mackenzie was supposed to be secreted in the hope of blowing both the windmill and his pieces.

GOODWILL AGAINST ILLWILL

Speaking of Scots pioneers who had gone to Canada, Mr. Mackenzie King said that when he thought of government and the struggles of responsible government he found that the struggle was not merely in the lives of those who were in the forefront but in the lives of the great unknown and unnumbered pioneers who settled in Canada and helped to develop it. In those early days they brought with them qualities which made the Dominion what they are.

SYNOD FOR DIOCESE OF SINGAPORE

First Steps To Be Taken Shortly

The first step towards the establishment of synodical government in the Diocese of Singapore, within the jurisdiction of which is the whole Malayan peninsula, will be taken shortly by the institution in every parish in the ecclesiastical territory of a system of electoral rolls.

Forms of declaration will shortly be distributed and Church people in the Diocese will be asked to sign to the effect that they are over 18 years of age, are baptized members of the Church of England, etcetera.

LOCAL POWERS EXTENDED

The formation of the Synod is a matter of internal administration which will not directly affect the status of the Diocese, as subordinate to the Archbishop of Canterbury, but will possibly extend local powers of making representations to the Archbishop as, for instance, in the nomination of the Bishop.

The creation of a Synod in Singapore will be an almost essential preliminary to complete self-government which, however, can only be achieved through the federation of at least four Dioceses, constituting a Province.

THREE "HOUSES"

The Synod as ultimately composed will consist of three "Houses"—the Bishop, the clergy and representatives of the laity. Delegates to the House of Laity will be appointed by local Church Councils or committees, states the Rev. J. G. Hall, Chaplain of the parish of Selangor, and these in turn will be elected by all who are qualified to vote. The necessary qualification will consist in the appearance of the elector's name on the roll of the parish and it is for this purpose that Church people will shortly be asked to sign the above-mentioned declarations.

The next step will be the convening of a constitutive assembly elected on the basis of the electoral rolls and the final step towards the establishment of the new Government will be the adoption and inauguration of an approved Constitution.

That first, eagerly expected, little tooth is about to peep through. And baby wants something hard to suck and bite upon to help it to come through easily.

Instead of a bone ring or comforter—which often results in infection from germs and causes malformation of the mouth—give 'Ovaltine' Rusk to Baby. Crisp—but not too hard—they give that biting exercise which ensures sound, well spaced teeth and correct jaw formation.

Then through childhood it is the continued use of 'Ovaltine' Rusks that keeps the teeth strong and healthy and makes possible those perfect permanent teeth.

LUST

China's attitude to Japan's ultimatum will merit the admiration of the world for a nation which has pleaded sincerely to be left unmolested so that she might strive conscientiously to fulfil her destiny by achieving unity within her territorial rights simply by striving to promote the well-being of her people. That is all that China has asked of the world, and, with one exception, the nations have respected the sanctity of that request.

Commendable restraint and firmness have been the eminently meritorious characteristics of China's conduct throughout this particularly exasperating period, neither taunts nor insults having goaded her leaders to deviate from the logical policy enunciated by the Executive Yuan and endorsed by the nation. That policy is simply this—China claims the right to govern according to her lights within her own boundaries and she will not voluntarily relinquish any of those powers of self-government which are inherent in a sovereign state. Whilst the rest of the world has accepted the unsullied justice of that proper policy, Japan has selfishly elected to disregard, in a spirit of contempt amounting to diabolical callousness, every reasonable plea by China for neighbourly co-operation through non-intervention in matters purely domestic. Time and again has China emphasised the necessity for the Central Government at Nanking to have untrammelled control within her territorial rights. Time and again has Japan flagrantly violated the sovereign integrity of China's territorial rights, and the ultimatum sent to the Central Government on Sunday from Tokyo constituted a gratuitous insult as unworthy as it was unprovoked. In a word, Japan has said to China, "Do not dare to exercise your rightful jurisdiction over the Hopei-Chahar Political Council under pain of grave unfathomable consequences."

If a foreign nation, for example, said to the Commonwealth Government (the sovereign power in Australia), "We insist on negotiating with the local Government of the State of Queensland, and you must not interfere," the answer would be similar to that which General Chiang Kai-shek has made to Japan—perhaps somewhat less diplomatically worded.

The fact is that Japan is still giddy as a consequence of her meteoric rise from comparative obscurity to consequence. Drunk with power and manacled by a military terrorism, Japan has outraged every territorial decency in regard to China since her unpardonable and unprovoked annexation of Manchuria. Every new perpetration inspired by Japan's insatiable lust for land has been "excused" on the plea that she was earnestly desirous of delivering some portion of China's territory from the crushing burden of mal-administration. Such palpable insincerity is nauseating. What that policy has meant in pain and suffering to the hereditary subjects of China constitutes a heavy debt which Japan will have to pay sooner or later.

Meanwhile, within Japan itself there is not that "sweet unity" which the propagandists would make the outside world believe. Suppose, in the event of war, the country was subjected to air raids, it is quite possible that the civil population, so long muzzled by the military, might at least break its bonds and then the day of reckoning would, with a vengeance, be in sight.

With her imperialistic aggressiveness, Japan has sorely tried the patience of the world. The time has arrived for a halt to be called and a reckoning to be made.

Japan is responsible for involving the whole world in a terrific rearmament race. Japan is responsible for the lapsing of the Washington and London naval treaties which made the Pacific peaceful in reality as well as in name for fifteen years. The grave of Japan's international reputation for good faith was dug by the bayonets of her military in 1931. Can she, in spite of moral delinquency and inadequate material strength, survive as a Great Power? The answer to that pregnant question may be decided sooner than even her most pessimistic nationalists imagine.

China's answer has sounded the warning.

BIG WEMBLEY SCHEME

Making Room For 40,000 More

WORK TO COST £60,000

It is planned to increase the accommodation at Wembley Stadium by nearly half so that there will be room for 40,000 more spectators at next year's F.A. Cup Final, and at the England v. Scotland match which is also due to be played there.

Mr. A. Brook Hirst, a member of the Football League Management Committee and Final Tie Committee, disclosed at the annual meeting of the Football League in London that negotiations had been proceeding with the Wembley authorities. The suggestion was for additional terracing, supported on pillars, behind each goal, capable of providing for 32,000 to 36,000 spectators and also room for an extra 4,500 alongside the touch-lines.

The alterations would cost approximately £60,000 and, continued Mr. Brook Hirst, the burden would fall on the Football Association. The F.A. needed an assurance that they would be recouped over a period of years for such an expenditure.

One of their conditions was that their lease of the Stadium be extended from seven years to fourteen. It was also necessary that Cup finalists of the future should not seek an increased share of Cup Final proceeds. The clubs agreed not to ask for an increase—the share of the finalists is usually about £5,500—and Mr. Brook Hirst thereupon said he would put the matter before the Finance Committee of the F.A. later in the day.

(At the meeting of the F.A. Council later in the day, it was announced that the Finance Committee had deferred consideration of the question of increased accommodation at Wembley. The matter is expected to come before the Council when they meet at Great Yarmouth later.)

The present accommodation at Wembley is approximately 90,000. Hampden Park, the venue of the Scottish Cup Final holds 150,000.

BACK TO THE CAVES

Some years ago when gang robbery was prevalent in Kinta the robbers usually hid their loot in caves in which they also lived. With the suppression of gang robbery these caves were the favourite hiding places for illicit liquor stills.

During the last three years the hills of Gunung Cheroh and Ulu Chemor have been combed out by revenue officers and several people have been prosecuted. It was thought that no further unauthorized use would be made of these caves.

The latest now is, however, that the caves are being used as common gaming places.

The story was told in the Ipoh magistrate's court of four Chinese and two Tamils being found gambling in a cave in Ulu Chemor. The police found a lamp burning, a mat, and cards and money inside the shoes of one of the men. They were fined and the informer was well rewarded. It is understood that this is the first occasion on which gambling inside a cave on such a scale has been discovered in Perak.

Sunday's maximum temperature was 88 degs. with a night minimum of 77. Yesterday at 10 a.m. the temperature was 81. The maximum temperature yesterday was 83 degs, this reading being taken at 1 p.m.

Loretta Young and Virginia Bruce will share starring honours in "Wife Doctor and Nurse."

Norma Shearer has accepted the feminine lead in "Idiot's Delight." As leading man she will have Clark Gable. Miss Shearer's role will be that of a phoney Russian countess.

CHINA REVIEW

Censorship Rights In Settlement

The functioning of a censorship Board in the Settlement was attacked in a statement issued by the League of Cultural Groups following its formal inauguration at the Chinese Chamber of Commerce building, North Honan Road, states the "North China Daily News."

The League, known as the League of Shanghai Cultural Groups for the Abrogation of the Shanghai Municipal Council's Rights to Censor Chinese Plays, Songs and Motion Pictures, was organized by Chinese Motion Picture Producers' Guild, the Pen Club, the Chinese Dramatic Club, the Chinese Literary Association, the Dramatic Writers' Association, the National Educational Motion Picture Association and twenty other similar organizations.

According to a member of the League, the Executive Yuan has ordered the Ministry of Foreign Affairs to study the issue.

Gen. Chiang's Gift To College

General Chiang Kai-shek, has made a personal contribution of $10,000 towards the Foundation Fund of the proposed Han-Min College, to be established in memory of the late Mr. Hu Han-min, former Chairman of the Standing Committee of the C.E.C.

The donation was made during the recent visit to Kuling of Mr. Liang Han-tso, Secretary-General of the Legislative Yuan, who reported to General Chiang on the preparations made for the establishment of the college. Mr. Liang will leave for the South Sea Islands to solicit contributions from overseas Chinese for the College.

Metric System For Vehicles

The Chinese Government's new regulation requiring all vehicles to measure their mileage in kilometres and their fuel in litres does not affect used cars. It is reported from Shanghai. The rule only applies to new cars six months from June 11, the date of promulgation.

The above information was given by the Ministry of Industry in its reply to the representations made by the Automobile Club of China. While raising no objections to the actual order extending the use of the metric system to the registration of mileage and measurement of fuel, the club pointed to the great difficulty involved in the change of all speedometers and fuel gauges in order to conform to the new rule.

There are in China slightly over 25,000 passenger cars, 8,300 motor buses, 9,500 motor lorries and 2,200 miscellaneous vehicles. According to a very conservative estimate, over half of these are equipped with "miles an hour" speedometers. Should the new ruling apply to these vehicles, not only would the expense involved in the replacement of such equipment be enormous, but the question of supply will be very difficult to solve.

Unwise Tactics

It certainly does not redound to the credit of would-be labour leaders in Shanghai that recent disturbances have been staged in factories where conditions are known to be favourable to the workers and the policy of the employers concerned is directed toward ensuring enlightened terms of service and healthy surroundings for their employees, states the "North China Daily News." The American-Far Eastern Match Co., which has its factory in Chinese territory across the Soochow Creek, has long distinguished itself by the efficiency and modernity of its organization. Those qualities necessarily imply consideration for the welfare of the workers, for whom indeed the Company maintains several beneficial institutions. When therefore the public believe that it cannot get reasonable treatment for such of its members as may be among the employees of that factory, it is barking up the wrong tree. The Chinese Laws definitely prescribe conditions under which the right of association is secured for workers. How far the Foo-ll-wel comes under the category of approved labour unions it is perhaps difficult to ascertain. This much may be said; its apparent instigation of the disorderly proceedings which have so unfortunately disturbed relations between the Match Factory and its hitherto contented workers does not suggest the possession of much common sense. Opportunity to improve the lot of labour is not well taken when undoubtedly reasonable employers are antagonized.

China's Supply Of Electricity

Although the first electric lighting installation in China was inaugurated in 1879, about the same time that similar services were stated in London, yet by the year 1934, the total consumption in Great Britain was nearly 37,000 million units, the corresponding figure for China was only 1,894 million units, in spite of the fact that China has a population of 450 million people, states the "North China Daily News."

Some of the reasons for this slow progress are made clear in a valuable report entitled "L'Industrie de L'Energie Electrique en Chine," which has been prepared by Monsieur Paul Mathieu under the auspices of the Bureau of the Commercial Attaché at the French Consulate in Shanghai, states "Engineering." Monsieur Mathieu states that of the relatively small figure for the whole country, as much as 84 per cent. is accounted for in eight large towns: Shanghai, Nanking, Peking, Tientsin, Hankow, Canton, Tsin-tai and Hangchow.

In these there are both public and private lighting and power loads; owing to the transport facilities available and the security afforded, both medium-sized and large factories have been established. This development has provided the central stations with a type of load which is not to be found in the country districts, where coolie labour is so cheap that machine work has made little progress. In the smaller towns there is also no opportunity for the creation of a tramway load, as owing to the narrow streets such vehicles are impracticable.

North China's Economy

The bulletin which Mr. Tien-tung Shih has written for the Council of International Affairs at Nanking on "Economic Conditions in North China" is well-backed with information, according to a report from Shanghai. The area includes the provinces of Hopei, Shantung, Shansi, Chahar and Suiyuan, not because they constitute a distinct political or economic unit, but because they have the common experience of being a "target" for "foreign aggression" in recent years. In the summer, cotton, millet, maize, kaoliang and bean, in the winter, wheat and barley, are the chief crops. Modern industries are growing up in Hopei, Shantung and Shansi. The total population of the area is 82,394,707. The future development of heavy industries in China will depend on these provinces for iron ore, manganese and tungsten. The coal reserve in Shansi is expected to play an important part in that projected advance. Wool and cotton will, it is argued, be sent to the south in return for tin and manufactured goods. The Government's efforts to improve the economic conditions of the north by reclamation and control works in the Yellow River valley are appreciatively noted. The conclusion that any separatist movement which aims at detaching these northern provinces will inevitably be disastrous to those provinces as well as to the rest of China is understandable, well-supported by statistics ably marshalled, and as it happens, peculiarly topical at the moment.

TRAIN PLUNGES DOWN EMBANKMENT

Worst Accident In History Of Indian Railway

London, July 19. Amplification, from Patna of the reports of the accident to the Punjab-Howrah Express which was on its way to Calcutta on Saturday states that the train was entering the Bihta Station, about 15 miles from Patna, when the engine leaped off the track at a culvert and plunged down the embankment resulting in the derailment of seven third class carriages.

The driver and two firemen escaped and little damage was done to the first coach but the next four were telescoped, resulting in one of the worst accidents in Indian history.

Six women and one child were found between dead bodies by the rescue parties who were rushed to the scene with all possible speed.

The Viceroy and Secretary of State for India have telegraphed messages of sympathy.—Reuter.

MR. ANTHONY EDEN

GREAT CONCERN FELT

"The British Government has communicated with other Governments on the situation. The American and French Governments have both expressed concern and hope for a peaceful settlement.

"Maybe this will most likely be reached between the two parties and it is a matter of greatest regret that these unfortunate incidents have arisen at a moment when it seemed justifiable to hope that the situation in the Far East was entering upon a better phase.

"We do not believe that interest in China and Japan need conflict. We have watched sympathetically during recent years the efforts which China is making to develop her vast resources but at the same time we are not unmindful of the economic difficulties which Japan has had to encounter."

REMEDY SUGGESTED

"If it were permissible for the Government to suggest a remedy we say that remedy should be sought only in a change of method in a real attempt at understanding between the two countries, ensuring a period of tranquillity and affording the opportunity for development of peaceful trade and communication."

"As long as the uncertain situation in North China is allowed to continue, as long as the succession of incidents are not patched up by local settlements of rather a doubtful scope, the validity of the situation will remain charged with danger."

Mr. Eden asked whether it was too much to hope that both Governments would yet make determined efforts to endeavour to find a comprehensive settlement of their differences.

"A few weeks ago we welcomed the approach made to us by the Japanese Government and we hope it may yet be possible to improve and still further our relations. We had hoped that further improvement in Anglo-Japanese relations would have enabled us to contribute to a general easing in the Far East which it is our firm conviction will benefit all concerned."

"There is more prosperity to be gained from peaceful developments in the Far East than could ever be obtained by other methods; that is why we are watching developments with real anxiety and with a fervent wish they may be settled."—Reuter.

EX-MODERATOR'S SON MARRIED

Archbishop Of Canterbury Officiates

The Archbishop of Canterbury officiated at the wedding in Ewhurst Parish Church, Surrey, of his nephew, Mr. William Farquharson Marshall Lang, son of the Very Rev. Marshall B. Lang, T.D., D.D., Whittingehame, Haddington, former Moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland. Mr. Farquharson Lang's bride was Miss Sheila Olive Parker, daughter of the late Mr. George Olive Parker and Mrs. Parker, of Lower House, Ewhurst.

The bridegroom's father and an old family veil of Brussels lace were worn by the bride. She carried a sheaf of roses and lilies intermingled with blue delphiniums. The train-bearers, the Misses Jill Netherole (cousin of the bride) and Jean Henderson (niece of the bridegroom), were dressed in peach-coloured net over silk.

There were four bridesmaids—the Misses Phyllis Parker, sister of the bride; Evelyn Loch and Mary Steele, cousins of the bride; and Muriel Lang, cousin of the bridegroom. Their bouquets of peach gladioli and love-in-the-mist were effective against their frocks of pale peach-coloured net, which were appliqued with coloured flowers.

Mr. Arthur J. Irvine, Liberal candidate for West Aberdeenshire, acted as groomsmen.

DAVIS CUP

AMERICA WIN DOUBLES

London, July 19. As a result of the doubles match played at Wimbledon to-day, the United States is leading 2-1 in the final of the European Zone in the Davis Cup.

Donald Budge and Gene Mako, the Wimbledon title holders, defeated Gottfried Von Cramm and Heinrich Henkel (Germany) after a great struggle, the four sets lasting 46 games.

The scores, in favour of the American pair, were 4-6, 7-5, 8-6, 6-4.

Henkel played very well but Von Cramm was off form.

The last two singles matches will be played at Wimbledon tomorrow (Tuesday) when Henkel meets B. M. Grant and Von Cramm will be opposed to Budge.

Everything though points in favour of the United States having the right to challenge the holders, Great Britain, at Wimbledon, on Saturday next.—Reuter.

U.S. BASEBALL RESULTS

No Upsets Recorded

New York, July 18. The National League saw no upsets to-day. Chicago won twice against Brooklyn, thus forging ahead of the field still further, though New York kept pace by beating St. Louis in a twin bill. Galan and O'Dea hit homers for the Chicago Cubs in the opener, getting a seven to six victory. Each team hit 12 times. In the night-cap the Cubs won nine to four. Galan again driving out a home run.

New York won the first game from St. Louis in spite of three errors, six to five. Ott and Chiozza saving the day with well-timed home runs. The second game was a blank out for St. Louis, Schumacher allowing nine hits which did not net a single score. Schumacher, Leslie and Danning hit circuits, the Giants scoring eleven. Cincinnati also won twice, four to one against Boston in the first, one to nothing in the second, when Grissom pitched. Lombardi drove out a homer in the opener.

Pittsburgh and Philadelphia split the honours, the Phillies taking the opener, five to two, the Pirates the late game, six to five. Handley and Brubaker circling the bags.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Philadelphia and St. Louis each won a game in their series, the Athletics going down to defeat six to ten in the opener, in spite of Johnson's homer, but winning the second game seven to six, Peters giving them a circuit drive. Davis hit one for the Browns.

Chicago beat Boston twice, six to five and one to nothing. Chapman and Fox hit home runs for the Red Sox in the opener, but couldn't catch the White Sox' mounting score. Stratton allowed Boston only three hits in the late game.

New York defeated Cleveland five to one. Di Maggio hitting a homer.

Detroit nosed out Washington, three to one, though the Tigers had only two hits. Washington having six, including a home run by Simmons. Washington's three errors lost the game.—Reuter.

DEBATE ON CONCORDAT

Belgrade, July 19. Eighty deputies have announced their intention to take part in the debate on the Concordat between the Holy See and Yugoslavia which was commenced in the Chamber to-day when the Minister of Justice, Subotich, defended the agreement.

In order to avoid untoward incidents, the police prohibited an intercessory procession of the Orthodox Church here, which was planned to take place to-day with the object of praying for the recovery of the patriarch, Karlovic, who is sick.

The Orthodox Hierarchy is strongly opposed to the Concordat.—Transocean News Service.

LORD CECIL BACKS REARMAMENT

"Loathsome Necessity"

Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, speaking at a League of Nations Union meeting at Torquay explained that he had decided that Britain's rearmament programme was justified in the present state of Europe.

"One conclusion which I have been forced to draw which has not been accepted by all my friends in the peace movement," he said, "is that it is impossible for any country to remain in safety without adequate protection to meet a sudden attack by its neighbours. I am forced to the conclusion, which I would much rather not have reached, that if other countries in Europe insist on piling up armaments, it becomes essential for us, at any rate in some degree, to follow suit. That is a loathsome necessity—a horrible thing."

Lord Cecil said that they should press forward with all their strength to induce the other nations of the world to use every

One-Cent Bid For Lighthouse

An amusing official blunder has led to a bid being offered to the United States Government as the purchase price of a famous lighthouse on Buzzards Bay in the State of Massachusetts.

Seeking to get good prices for the sale of three New England lighthouse sites, the Government advertised particulars in local newspapers.

The notices in the newspapers brought a letter from a man living near Buzzards Bay which read:—

"I read the enclosed advt. that the Ned's Point lighthouse property is soon to be offered for sale to the lowest bidder. I therefore enclose herewith the sum of one cent (worth about 1d.)—my bid and payment in full."

COIN ACCOMPANIES LETTER

A bright new coin accompanied the letter which continued: "Please have the necessary papers made out to me and forwarded at your earliest convenience."

The newspaper clipping actually contained the words "to the lowest bidder." In asking for tenders for government contracts those are the customary terms and some official had inadvertently used them in an instance where the highest bidder was wanted.

Immediately the letter was received, corrections were rushed to the newspaper. The coin, so hopefully enclosed, was returned to its ambitious sender "with thanks" and with the information that a mistake had been made somewhere.

DEFENCE OF HAINAN ISLAND

Canton, July 19.

It is reported that the development of Hainan Island has been definitely decided upon by the Nanjing Central Government, and that the Kwangtung Provincial Authorities will erect barracks for stationing 10,000 troops of the defence force.

An aerodrome will also be erected for the parking of 100 aeroplanes.

It is stated that contracts for the construction of the barracks and aerodrome have already been signed in Hong Kong.—Chinese Evening Press.

ALL LAND TO BE RESUMED

Canton, July 19.

It is reported that it has been discovered that certain Japanese agents have been secretly buying land from the ignorant natives of Hainan Island through traitorous native agents.

It is stated that much land has been secretly changed hands, and that the authorities are investigating the matter, particularly the secret sales of land. It is reported that the authorities will resume all the leased land of the island.—Chinese Evening Press.

Coming Art Exhibitions

We are informed by The Hong Kong Working Artists' Guild that they are busily preparing for the annual Exhibition of the Chinese Fine Art Club of Canton. The exhibition is to be held to mark the birthday of the Club members' past art master, the late Mr. Ko Ki Fung, himself an artist of high merit well-known all over China.

It will be recalled that when this Club held its last annual exhibition in the Working Artists' Guild's Temporary Gallery on the first floor of Gloucester Building last August, Sir Andrew and Lady Caldecott greatly admired the exhibits, and Sir Andrew acquired two of the paintings for his collection.

During this show no less than one quarter of the works were sold. It is felt that the coming exhibition will be more interesting, and hence deserve bigger success, than their previous shows.

Another exhibition the Guild is preparing is the work of Hong Kong artists entered for and accepted by the Second National Exhibition recently held at Nanking, and which has now been returned to the Colony after the National Exhibition and preliminary and subsequent supplementary shows held at Canton and Shanghai respectively. It is understood that exhibitors in this group were led by Mr. Pao Shin Yau, Artmaster of the Lal Ching College, and who, besides giving a lecture on History and Development of Chinese Art, recently gave a course of lessons on Chinese painting to many European members of the Hong Kong Working Artists' Guild at the Guild Studio, No. 51 Gloucester Road, Wanchai.

RAILWAY DISASTER CASUALTY LIST

Patna, July 19. A revised list of casualties in the Central India railway disaster shows that 107 passengers were killed and 75 injured. All were Indians.

The disaster occurred when the express train from Punjab to Janpur left the rails fifteen miles from Patna and plunged into an embankment, three coaches being telescoped.—Reuter.

REMOVAL OF COFFIN OF MARSHAL PILSUDSKI

Full Satisfaction For Family Demanded

Warsaw, July 19. Though the conflict caused by the removal of the coffin of Marshal Pilsudski by order of Prince Sapieha, Archbishop of Gdansk, has been officially declared settled it is believed that at a special meeting which has been called for Tuesday afternoon, the Sejm will not content itself with accepting the Government's declaration to that effect.

The Union of Legionaries and other associations cultivating the memory of Marshal Pilsudski called a meeting for the purpose of drafting new resolutions on the Warvel conflict which will be transmitted to the Marshals of the Sejm and the Senate.

The new appeal issued by the said associations demands full satisfaction for the family of Marshal Pilsudski, the rights of which have been disregarded by the removal of the coffin. The appeal also demands the revision of the Concordat with the Holy See in order to restore the unrestricted sovereignty of the Polish State.—Transocean News Service.

ALLEGED IMPROPER BOOKS IN LIBRARY

Clergyman Objects To Paying Rate

The Rev. John Wells Wilkinson, of Belvedere, Kent, was summoned at Dartford by the Erith Urban Council, of which he is a member and a past chairman, for the non-payment of a library rate of £1 18s.

He said that he objected to paying the rate because, in his opinion, the library was circulating improper books. He had been refused access to the library and had had to go to London to carry out researches. He had incurred railway fares and had made a counter-claim against the Council for 30s.

The Bench made an order for immediate payment of the rate. Mr. Wilkinson applied for summonses against four councillors, alleging that they circulated improper literature by means of the library. He named a book as being improper, but could not produce it, and his application was refused.

NEW GERMAN 10,000-TON CRUISER

The latest German 10,000-ton cruiser, the second of her class, was launched at Kiel in the presence of Admiral Raeder, Commander-in-Chief of the Navy. On the instructions of Herr Hitler she was named Blucher, and the launching ceremony was performed by Frau Erdmann, the widow of the captain of the German cruiser Blucher, which was sunk in the Dogger Bank action in 1915. The Blucher is a sister ship of the Admiral Hipper, which was launched on February 6.

EPSTEIN STATUES TO BE REMOVED

Six of the Epstein statues on the facade of Rhodesia House, in the Strand, are to be removed.

Recently a woman had a foot slightly injured when half a head of one of the figures fell into the street, and the decision to take the six down was reached after an examination by architects.

The ultimate fate of the remaining 16 statues is under consideration.

HOUSEBREAKER FINED

At the Central Magistracy yesterday Lee Pak-chun, 38, unemployed, appeared before Mr. W. Schofield on charges of stealing electric wire from Nos. 37, 41 and 45 Ewo Street on July 14, and breaking and entering the caretakers' house at Lee Gardens and stealing two mirrors and $4 from Chu Hui, 40, the caretaker. The premises were the property of the Lee Hysan Estate Company. Three other men were also charged, but their pleas of not guilty were accepted by the police and they were discharged.

Detective Sergeant Allen stated that defendant had taken the wire and mirrors and had sold them to a man named Chan Hung, who in turn sold them to two other men, Ip Mo and Chan Sik. These three men were arrested and they implicated defendant. Defendant admitted two previous convictions for obtaining

ATTEMPTED MURDER

Chief Detective-Inspector J. Murphy applied for a week's formal remand before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy yesterday in the case in which Li Tsan is charged with attempted murder. The accused was alleged to have fired a shot at Police Sergeant Natha Khan and later gave himself up at the Central charge-room under the impression that he had killed the officer.

Mr. Murphy said it had not yet been decided who would take the case.

The remand was granted.

food by false pretences, and disorderly conduct. Defendant was fined $50 or six weeks on the breach of his bond, one month on each of the larceny charges and three months on that of house-breaking, a total of six months and 6 weeks.

SIX FIGHTS ON NEXT BOXING CARD

Whelan And Owens To Fight To A Finish

(BY "ROY MURRAY")

The Boxing tournament arranged by the Hong Kong Boxing Promotion Syndicate for July 30, at the Po Hing Theatre, Kowloon, has been postponed till Saturday, July 31, commencing at 8 p.m. The promoter has eventually been able to compile a colourful programme as the material at his disposal would allow. Considering the scarcity of new blood in the local fistie world, the arranging of a boxing programme which will appeal to the most critical pugilistic fan is no easy task but the programme for the 31st promises not to disappoint.

SIX FIGHTS

The programme contains six interesting fights, with each pair evenly matched. Three local championships are at stake, these being in the welterweight, bantamweight and featherweight divisions. The Whelan-Owens tussle, the last fight of the evening, is the main attraction. I don't think it is necessary to give the record of these two boxers, as the majority of local boxing fans witnessed their first struggle which ended in a draw. Opinions varied—some consider that Owens muffed a glorious opportunity of administering the coup-de-grace midway through the fight, while others thought the Irishman had amassed a comfortable points lead at the finish.

Their meeting on the 31st can be looked forward to in the nature of a 100 per cent thriller. Should the referee give a draw at the close of the 15 rounds the fight will continue until a decision is reached.

Next, in order of importance comes the Young Aromin-Mac Siong scrap. Pus Fisher the holder of the bantamweight crown is unable to fight at the moment, and this gives young Aromin another chance to show his metal. The fact that Mac Siong has not been seen in action in the local ring conveys little or nothing to us as regards his abilities, although he boasts quite a useful record in Manila. The winner may have the opportunity of meeting Fisher for his title.

MORGAN FAVOURED

In the welterweight class comes a title clash between Battling Rio, the well-known Portuguese youngster and Fusilier Morgan the 1937 Army Champion. This bout is scheduled to go 10-2 minute rounds, and may provide the first K.O. of the evening, as both men are capable of unleashing vicious punches, and I am inclined to think the Army boxer will be able to land that hook on the vital spot.

A six-rounder between Iron Bux Jr., leading contender for the amateur flyweight championship of Hong Kong and Pus. Jack Hooson, should provide some hard hitting.

Other fights are between Junior lads. Reggie Ewart meets Kid Gonzales, and Dennis Manders, a very promising little fighter, meets a young aspirant from India.

EVADING PAYMENT OF FARE

Appearing before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy yesterday, Tang Sik-hung of No. 14 Chong-nought Road, West was convicted on a charge of having evaded payment of the fare on board tram-car No. 31 on July 2.

Mr. W. A. Gardner, Traffic Inspector employed by the Hong Kong Tramways, Ltd., said he boarded tram No. 31 at about 9.40 p.m. on July 2 in Causeway Bay, and proceeded to check the passengers' tickets. When he came to the defendant the latter nodded and said "monthly ticket".

Witness asked him to produce it and he took out a wallet and showed the red edge of a ticket. Witness insisted on seeing the whole thing and defendant eventually took it out, when it was found to be a monthly ticket for July, 1935. Witness asked him what he had to say and he then took out a ticket for June, 1936.

Defendant pleaded that he produced the July, 1935, ticket by mistake. He had last month's ticket in another pocket and was going to renew it, a fine of $5 was imposed by His Worship.

ANOTHER CHARGE

Leung Hing, of 2 West Street, was fined a total of $15 when he pleaded guilty to having used on two separate dates a monthly ticket on which his own name did not appear.

It was stated the ticket belonged to the defendant's master and when the latter was away, the man used it.

Mr. Pak-ki, the master, was discharged on counts of having transferred his licence on the dates in the above case. His Worship holding that there was not

TRADE MARKS SUMMONS

An application was made by Mr. D. B. Evans, representing Melchers and Company, before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy yesterday, for the withdrawal of a trade mark summons against the Wing Sing Cheung, of 178 Des Voeux Road.

The summons was that, on July 5, defendants sold goods, namely a glass jar containing solid brilliantine with a cap and label bearing the number 4711 in a scroll with a bell attached, to which a false trade description was applied.

Mr. Evans said the terms which he had mentioned last week had been complied with. Similar summonses against the Pak On Company, of 239 Des Voeux Road Central, and the Fook Wah Company, of 318 Des Voeux Road, were adjourned to Tuesday, July 27, at 11.30 a.m.

CHARGES WITHDRAWN

Before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy, yesterday morning, Chow Hon, 28, farmer, and Chung On, 23, unemployed, were charged that, with others not in custody, when armed with revolvers, they stole 238 pieces of gold jewellery from 5 Nga Tsin Wal Road, Kowloon City, on July 15. Inspector Portallion asked for a remand for three days, which was granted.

Later, the charges were withdrawn, the police intimating that they did not intend to proceed against the accused men.

sufficient evidence to show he had permitted it.

ROBBERY WITH VIOLENCE

Kwok Fung, 21-year-old unemployed man, who pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery with violence, was sentenced to 18 months' hard labour by the Acting Chief Justice. His Honor Mr. C. G. Alabaster, at the Criminal Sessions yesterday.

Mr. E. H. Williams, Acting Crown Solicitor, who conducted the prosecution said the crime was committed on the evening of June 13, when complainant, Wong Yuet-ho, 40-year-old widow, was walking along Chatham Road, near Gun Club Hill. Accused came up from behind and struck her three times on the head with a stick. A struggle ensued, and accused snatched away the handbag, containing $1.20.

As he was running away, a taxi-cab, bearing Mr. G. F. Walker, passed by. The car was stopped and the driver, on ascertaining the trouble, chased accused, who was fleeing towards Hungshom. A cyclist joined in the chase and arrested accused near the railway bridge.

Accused, who admitted a previous conviction last year for larceny by servant, asked for leniency, saying he had to support his aged parents.

AUGUST TYPHOON RECALLED

An inquest into the death of Chu Yu, aged 35, and Leung Shun, aged 60, who lost their lives as a result of the collapsing of a house (33 Jardine Bazaar) during the typhoon in August 1936 was held at the Central Magistracy yesterday when Mr. W. Schofield sat as Coroner, assisted by a jury comprising Messrs. G. I. August (foreman), J. C. Polson, and A. Tavares.

Dr. Begbie, Medical Officer in charge of the Victoria Mortuary, said that in his opinion death was due to asphyxia caused by suffocation or mechanical interference with the breathing system.

TECHNICAL EVIDENCE

Mr. H. Bottomley, Government architect, gave technical evidence. He stated that the house was erected about 80 years ago, but was not sufficiently dilapidated to be described as dangerous. In his opinion the collapse was due to the action of the strong wind on the internal face of the walls.

Ip Sze, wife of one of the deceased, and Tang Sze, principle tenant of the flat, gave evidence to the effect that a powerful gust of wind tore the tiles off the roof and at the same time the parted wall collapsed.

Formal evidence was given by Detective Tung Yu and Mr. P. Morgan, Overseer of the P.W.D. The jury returned a verdict of death by misadventure and added "we would suggest that where very old buildings are exposed to the force of typhoons that suitable protection should be provided."

FALSE PRETENCES

Appearing before Mr. W. Schofield yesterday at the Central Magistracy, Yau Sau was charged with obtaining a brace and bit on July 5, from No. 35 D'Aguilar Street and a nail grip on July 15 from No. 41 Peking Road by false pretences.

Inspector W. Mair stated that defendant went to these addresses and asked for the articles, saying they were for a man named Tong Tin-po, a shopkeeper at No. 21, Chit Loong Street, where defendant had been employed five months ago. The articles were pawned. The complainants, Cheung Tai-king, 19, student, and Chan Kam-chiu, 19, student, and Chan Kam-chiu, 19, apprentice, first gave Tong intimation of what had happened when they asked him for the return of the articles. Tong saw defendant in Des Voeux Road West on July 16 and had him arrested.

His Worship bound him over for $50 and ordered him to be deported.

HE DIDN'T COUNT ON A SWIM

Chan Wai Ching, 19-year-old, single woman was brought before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday and was fined $75 or seven weeks' for soliciting in Johnston Road on July 18.

On the approach of Inspector Madgwick, she ran across the street and jumped into the harbour. The Inspector was compelled to jump in so as to rescue her.

The Gillette No. 77 Set illustrated here, which contains the latest Gillette razor, three Blue Gillette slotted blades and two blade holders in a new type of moulded box, has these definite advantages:

The razor is made in two pieces instead of three, as formerly, thus making it easier and quicker to clean, assemble and use.

The blades are made by the new electrical-tempering process. They give not only closer, cleaner shaves than you have ever had before, but also more shaves per blade.

The case is ideal for hot and humid climates as it is so easy to keep clean.

Ask your dealer to show you a No. 77 Set—one of the most popular that Gillette have ever made.

Chinese compradore of the steamer Kistna. Ah Fatt, was drowned in Bangkok River on the vessel's last voyage there when he slipped while boarding a ferry to go ashore in the morning. Heavily built and short-sighted, Ah Fatt on this occasion had forgotten his glasses. He suddenly slipped and the swift current carried him away. Men in the ferry saw him throw up both hands for a moment and then disappear in the muddy water. One man dived overboard but was unable to save him. The police found the body the same evening on the bed of the river.

SWIMMING

"BUTTERFLY"
AIDS TRAINING

John Davies's Fine
Feat

ASSET IN WATER
POLO

John Davies, swimming for the Otters against Oxford University recently won the 200 yards breast stroke in 2 min. 35 sec., one second inside R. Henson's British record. He was clean away from the field throughout, and only speeded up over the last 40 yards. If he had been pressed the time would have been reduced several seconds.

The record cannot be claimed as the pool at Merton Street is slightly under regulation length, but the swim justifies special attention. Davies used the orthodox breast stroke with the under-water recovery, and showed a marked improvement on his previous best with this style.

Effect on Old Stroke
He has been doing little practice with the old breast stroke. For the past nine months he devoted practically all his training to the butterfly stroke. It is remarkable that he should show a record gain when he returned to the under-water recovery. This fact should be borne in mind by breast stroke swimmers and their coaches who hesitate to adopt the butterfly stroke as it is banned by the A.S.A. for championship events.

Davies finds the butterfly stroke more exhausting than the orthodox stroke, but he says that the feeling of strain is being reduced. When he returns to the old style he finds it much easier than before he took up the butterfly stroke. Apparently the butterfly practice has strengthened muscles which are used in the under-water recovery.

It is to be hoped that instructors will not ignore the butterfly stroke despite the official ban. It is only a question of time before the A.S.A. will have to come into line with the rest of the world, and allow the 'stroke' to be used in championships.

USE IN WATER POLO
The butterfly 'stroke' was used with success recently in a London League water polo match. The wide swing of the arms above water made it almost impossible for the man with the ball to be robbed or tackled without an infringement of rule. The wide lateral kick prevented an opponent from swimming over the legs of the dribbler.

Whether the butterfly stroke will become a regular feature in water polo is problematical. The idea may be ridiculed, but so was a statement of mine almost 20 years ago that the back crawl stroke could be used to advantage by water polo players.

The back crawl stroke was first seen in water polo matches in Europe in the Olympic tournament at Antwerp in 1920 when it was used by the American players.

Now this stroke is in fairly general use everywhere. When a player wishes to keep the ball in his line of vision and move forward in a head-first direction.

YACHT FOR TURKISH
PRESIDENT

Berlin, July 18.
The fifty-ton motor cruiser yacht, built for the Turkish President, Ataturk was launched today. The yacht is 27½ metres long and is equipped with two Diesel motors, each of 150 h.p.

On Wednesday the vessel will proceed to Hamburg under her own power and will be shipped from there to Turkey.

The christening ceremony was performed by the General Secretary of the Turkish President who gave the yacht the name of Acar, that is "Dare Devil."

Highlanders' Pipes At Paris
Exhibition

The band and pipes of the 1st Bn. Gordon Highlanders are making the British Pavilion the centre of attraction at the Paris Exhibition, writes the Paris correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph."

They played on the spacious lower terrace of the Pavilion, attracting such large crowds that a cordon of police was obliged to form on the steps and turn away would-be listeners.

By a happy coincidence, as the band was marching across the Tena Bridge to the British Pavilion, two British boats sped beneath them along the Seine, coming in first and second in the International Rally for motor cruisers.

Military and civil pageantry combined to enhance the dignity of the inauguration ceremony by the Lord Mayor of London, Sir George Broadbridge. The Lord Mayor and members of the City Corporation, in their robes, drove in their brown and blue carriages past the three great Union Jacks outside the Pavilion between scores of the Republican Municipal Guards at the salute.

The ceremony opened with the Marseillaise, and Mr. Claude Taylor, Commissioner-General of the Pavilion, said a few words in French welcoming the Lord Mayor.

HOME LIFE IN ENGLAND
Sir A. Steven Bilsland, vice-president of the Council for Art and Industry, explained that the object of the Pavilion was not to display show pieces, but to give an idea of the life which was led in every British home.

Mr. H. S. Hudson, Secretary of the Department of Overseas Trade, who spoke in French, recalled Mr. Eden's words of last November that it would be difficult to recall a time when Anglo-French relations were better.

The Lord Mayor, asked by Sir Eric Philips, the British Ambassador, to open the Pavilion, expressed the hope that the Paris Exhibition would help by breaking down the barriers hampering world trade.

Hammond Has Scored
Over 38,000 Runs

Walter Hammond will have cause to remember the figure eight. He was out for that total recently, his 34th birthday, and on the eve of his 33rd anniversary he was dismissed for exactly the same when playing against Worcestershire.

Hammond has achieved some remarkable feats as a batsman and as an all-rounder. After spasmodic appearances in first-class cricket in 1920-21-22, he "arrived" in 1933 and from that season he has advanced to a unique position in English cricket, going his own placid and majestic way.

HIS RECORDS
Some idea of Hammond's prolific scoring can be gained from the following table:—

	Runs.	100's	Wkts.	ches.
England	31,039	95	562	541
Australia and N. Zealand	4,306	17	58	35

MR. CHUNG CHEE
LENG

Former Perak State
Footballer To Wed

Mr. Chung Ah Ming, J. P., and a retired State Councillor of Perak, the well-known miner and sportsman, has issued invitations for the forthcoming marriage of his brother, Mr. Chung Chee Leng, sixth son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Chung Ah Yung.

The bride-to-be is Miss Loh Yok Kee, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loh Ah Len of Penang.

Mr. Chee Leng is not only a prominent member of the Chinese community of Penang and Perak, but had in his day enjoyed great popularity in all sporting circles for his special prowess in the field of sports.

He had led Penang and Perak in inter-State football matches as a centre-forward, having the reputation of being the most prolific goalgetter in North Malaya.

No less had been his brilliance at cricket as a very aggressive batsman, and also at tennis in which he has won numerous trophies. The late Mr. Khoo Hooi Ewe owed much of his inspiration and later success in the tennis world to his constant company and practice with Mr. Chee Leng at the Chinese Recreation Club in Penang.

From these sporting activities, Mr. Chee Leng retired some years ago owing to declining health. He has now well recovered.

HUNDREDS AND HUNDREDS
In 1928 Hammond scored 2,825 runs, took 84 wickets, and made 74 catches. On three occasions he has scored two double hundreds in successive innings, and in three consecutive Test matches in 1933 he scored a century: 101 v. Australia at Sydney, 227 v. New Zealand at Christchurch, and 336 not out v. New Zealand at Auckland. He has scored more double centuries than any other batsman in first-class cricket.
